

DIRAC Project Manager Assistant
(Barcelona March 15th 2014)

The DIRAC project (<http://diracgrid.org>) is currently preparing a number of initiatives that are strong candidates to become H2020 proposals in the coming months.

For that reason we are looking for Project Manager Assistant to work together with the DIRAC Coordinator and Technical Coordinator in the preparation of those initiatives and proposals.

The selected candidate needs to have proven experience in international projects on distributed computing and will be based in Barcelona, but the position will require travelling around Europe and beyond.

Interested candidates are requested to contact:

graciani@diracgrid.org or graciani@ecm.ub.edu for further details

The position will remain open until is filled.